

Significant rainfall and larges swell expected

Briefing for San Diego City and USBP

Alex Tardy

NWS San Diego

Issued Monday, November 26, 2018

Building a Weather-Ready Nation

Thursday November 29

Weather pattern

Summary for San Diego/US Border

Weather and Impacts

- Dry and mild Tuesday (offshore flow). Fog and low clouds develop Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and move inland to Brown Field (dense possible)
- Light showers developing Wednesday night (mainly after midnight)
- Steady light rain developing Thursday morning – rain heavy at times midday and through the afternoon and into evening hours. Possible urban flooding such as Dairy Mart road, Goat Canyon and Smugglers Gulch, and flows in Tijuana River
- Rainfall totals on Thursday (mainly afternoon and evening) 0.50 to 1.00 inch from San Diego downtown to Mexico border with rates of 0.10 to 0.25 per hour. Wind gusts 25 to 35 mph with a cold front Thursday afternoon.
- Rain tapering to numerous showers by Thursday evening but scattered showers continuing into Friday morning commute
- Significant northwest swell beginning Tuesday with 3 to 6 foot sets – most significant surf from Wednesday afternoon through Friday with sets 6 to 10 feet at Imperial Beach and Mission Beach tapering to 3 to 6 feet on Saturday
- Isolated showers on Friday morning then dry by afternoon
- Next chance for rain is Saturday afternoon and night (weaker storm)

Forecast Precipitation

Wednesday night through Friday morning

Total Precip

Valid: 11/28/2018 04:00 PM - 11/30/2018 10:00 AM PST

Most Areas 0.5 to 1.5 inches

National Weather Service
San Diego, California
11/26/2018 01:07 PM PST

Follow Us:
weather.gov/sandiego

Building a Weather-Ready Nation

Maximum Wind Gusts

Late Wednesday night Through Thursday evening

Wind Gusts Thursday

Valid: 11/28/2018 10:00 PM - 11/30/2018 04:00 PM PST

National Weather Service
San Diego, California
11/26/2018 01:06 PM PST

Follow Us:

weather.gov/sandiego

Building a Weather-Ready Nation

Wednesday morning low clouds

Fog across mesas and hills

Large northwest swell Wednesday through Friday

Building a Weather-Ready Nation